IETS WELCOME AND INVITATION

Dear Sponsors and Exhibitors,

On behalf of the International Embryo Technology Society (IETS) and the IETS Board of Governors, it is our pleasure to invite you to attend the 49th Conference of the IETS to be held in Lima, Peru, at the Westin Lima Hotel & Convention Center, January 16–19, 2023. The Annual Conference of the IETS has emerged as the preeminent meeting in advanced animal reproductive biotechnology, covering a broad area from embryo production and transfer techniques to cloning and transgenesis. The conference typically attracts more than 500 attendees from all over the world. Basic researchers and embryo transfer practitioners attend the meeting to learn about the most recent advances in embryo technology and related areas. Two preconference symposia (1 day) will complete the program covering reproduction of South American camelids organized at the veterinary faculty, "Advances on reproductive technologies in South American camelids." The other has been organized by DABE, on the era of synthetic embryos. Our sponsors and exhibitors are integral in providing our attendees with a valuable experience. Your tremendous financial support makes it possible to offer these excellent conference programs. For those who will not be able to make it to Lima, IETS will offer an online option so that you do not have to miss this important event. To complement the program, the IETS Foundation will support the participation of young members with an award program, and the Morulas will welcome them in an environment to network with the many colleagues present.

Join us at the IETS Annual Conference 2023!

Cesare Galli
President, IETS

WHAT'S DIFFERENT THIS YEAR AT IETS?

To attract more practitioners to our conference, we have added a special presentation session and abstract submission format just for them.

To increase booth visits, we will continue the fun prize drawings for attendees who visit all exhibitors.

A recent report by the Harvard Business Review, "Managing Across Distance in Today's Economic Climate," stated that "all survey participants (95%) said that face-to-face meetings are essential to building long-term business relationships." In the field of reproductive biology, IETS offers a great opportunity to do just that!

In Lima in 2023, it will be possible to

- Network face-to-face with over 450 professionals
- Increase brand awareness at a preeminent international event
- Establish new relationships and catch up with existing customers
- Drive new revenue and profit opportunities
- Utilize this high-profile event to launch new products and services
- Benefit from networking opportunities with key decision-makers

ABOUT IETS

The International Embryo Technology Society (formerly the International Embryo Transfer Society) was formed in 1974 in Denver, Colorado, USA, to serve as a professional forum for the exchange of information among practitioners, scientists, educators, regulatory officials, livestock breeders, suppliers of drugs and equipment, and students. The purpose of the IETS is to further the science of animal embryo technology by promoting more effective research, disseminating scientific and educational information, fostering high standards of education, maintaining high standards of ethics, and cooperating with other organizations that have similar objectives.

Members of the Society are engaged in a number of specialties in a variety of species that are covered at the IETS annual meeting:

- Graduate Student Competition
- Undergraduate Poster Competition
- Male Physiology
- Folliculogenesis / Oogenesis
- Oestrus Synchronization / Artificial Insemination
- Superovulation
- Oocyte Collection
- Oocyte Maturation
- Fertilization / ICSI / Activation
- Cloning / Nuclear Transfer
- Genetic Engineering
- Embryo Culture
- Embryo Manipulation
- Stem Cells
- Cryopreservation / Cryobiology
- Embryo Transfer
- Early Pregnancy
- Developmental Biology
- Periconceptional / Fetal Programming
- Companion CANDES
- Epidemiology / Diseases
- Bioethics, Welfare, and Sustainability
- Case Reports and Field Data

Objectives

- Promote research and education in all areas of reproductive biology
- Disseminate scientific knowledge through education and training for young researchers
- Encourage exchanges among professionals in both the private and public sectors in all related fields, including science, regulation, and commercial use

A society focused internationally

- In partnership with AETA, AETE, ASPRA, CETA, EJETS, HBETS, JETS, KARB, KSET, NETA, OIE, SATE, SAVSEG, SBTE, SETE, SIET, VEMTED, and other associations
- IETS—49 years of innovation and education in the field of embryo technology
